True story of an impassioned people who risk everything for family, faith and the very future of their country. # Life Matters

HAPPY FATHER'S DAY

To all of the Dads, Pops, Grandpas, Papas, Daddies, “Old Men”, and any other endearment you can substitute for the father in you. We all owe you our very life, and in some cases, our food, our college education, our morals, our first car, our values, our faith. Somehow a tie and an invitation to grill our lunch today won't cut it, but from all the sons and daughters, stepsons, and stepdaughters, nieces and nephews, and kids down the street that you have guided and loved, we say thank you. To all the dads in heaven ahead of us, we ask you to pray for us.

I want to address the younger, counter-cultural Dads here: Thanks for being a Real man and marrying the mother of your children; that is a gift that can never be measured. That's when you became like Christ, as bridegroom to His church. My parents fought like children much of the time, but Dad would never allow backtalk or disrespect to his wife. Please do the same and love your bride as Jesus loves His church.

Thank you also for bringing children into the world, also becoming a counter-cultural notion. May they always bring you joy and love and lots of grandchildren whom you will wish you had first.

A BIG THANK YOU to our local Fathers, Fr. John, Fr. Len and Fr. Jim. Thanks to you for the sacrifices you make for us, your pastoral children. We love you!

Cardinal O'Malley: Gosnell Convictions Draw Attention To Tragedy Of Abortion

May 15, 2013

WASHINGTON — The chairman of the Committee on Pro-Life Activities of the U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops called for reflection, greater respect for human life and healing in the wake of the May 13 convictions of Dr. Kermit Gosnell of Philadelphia.

“Dr. Gosnell’s trial brought much-needed attention to the tragedy of abortion,” said Cardinal Seán O’Malley, OFM Cap., of Boston. “His murder convictions of newly delivered infants have caused many people to reexamine their positions on abortion.”

Among Gosnell’s 237 convictions were three counts of first-degree murder of infants born alive during attempted late-term abortions, one count of infanticide, and the involuntary manslaughter of a patient who died from complications of anesthesia administered by an unlicensed nurse at his abortion clinic. He was also found guilty of conspiracy, performing abortions beyond the legal limit in Pennsylvania, and 208 violations of the state’s informed consent law. On May 14, Gosnell was sentenced to life in prison.

“In addition to the violence against defenseless unborn and newborn children, women’s lives were endangered by his unethical practices. I hope and pray that Dr. Gosnell will come to regret and repent for his many crimes,” Cardinal O’Malley said. “Our nation needs great healing from the culture of death, of which this sad story is only one example. Let us pray for the children who have been lost and the many mothers and families who silently grieve their loss. Our Lord longs to heal every person affected by the tragedy of abortion and other violence.”

More information on the Catholic Church’s pastoral response to those who have been involved in abortion is available at HopeAfterAbortion.com. More information on nationwide efforts of prayer and fasting are available at www.usccb.org/fast.

OFFICE OF THE BISHOP

June, 2013

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

There are many places around the globe where the Church struggles to be a visible sign of charity. In poor dioceses where many are dependent on the Church for social and pastoral support; in regions where Catholics are persecuted for their faith; and in nations overloaded with refugees and victims of war and natural disasters, the works done by the Church extend charity to those most in need.

The Peter's Pence Collection gives us the opportunity to be pilgrims of charity. Our gifts to this annual Collection help the Holy Father provide emergency assistance to the most disadvantaged around the world, as well as strengthen dioceses, religious orders, and struggling parishes when they need it most.

In his address of March 20, 2013, Pope Francis spoke of our responsibility before the world and creation: "There is much that we can do to benefit the poor, the needy and those who suffer, and to favor justice, promote reconciliation and build peace."

Many who struggle to survive rely on pilgrims of charity to assist them through their difficulties. Please give generously to the Collection and know that in doing so, you become a "pilgrim of charity" around the globe.

I take this opportunity to extend to you the assurances of my continued consideration and my prayers.

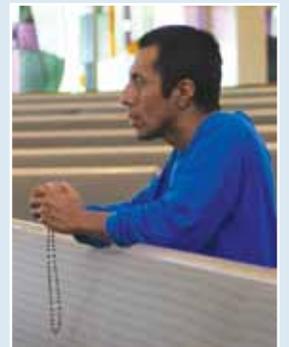

Sincerely yours in Christ,

+ Frank J. Dewane
Bishop of the Diocese of Venice in Florida

Praying to Our Lady of Guadalupe, Queen and Mother of the Americas

The Missionary Image of Our Lady of Guadalupe was on display at the foot of the altar at St. John the Evangelist, Tuesday, June 11. Parishioners prayed to Our Lady of Guadalupe throughout the day asking her to intercede with her son Jesus with their petitions which they left in a basket by the Image.

Many conversions, healings, reconciliations and graces have been reported, many abortions have been prevented and more than 20 abortion centers have been closed through Our Lady's intercession after visitations of the Image. During one of his many visits to Mexico, Blessed John Paul II called for the Missionary Images to visit every diocese in America, which he called the Continent of Hope.

The Word & Life

Tenderness Personified

s we journey through the gospel of Luke, we are confronted by the tenderness of Christ in very broken situations. Today's gospel is no exception. The evangelist sets the scene for the divine interchange between God and humanity. Jesus enters the house of the Pharisees at which a self-invited and unwelcome guest appears. We are told, "There was a sinful woman in the city" – we do not know her name, all we know is that her life had been defined by her sin by the "religious" teachers. The "nameless" woman stoops in her humility and washes the feet of the master with her tears and anoints his feet in an ultimate act of respect. The woman recognizes within Jesus the power to transform what was broken within her. Jesus' response is one of compassion and forgiveness. The invited guests seated around the table fail to see that the gift of forgiveness is within their grasp. Jesus points out that one who fails to forgive fails to love. Jesus quite rightly tells this vulnerable being that her faith has saved and transformed her. Jesus tells the Pharisee, Simon, that through the gift of love, forgiveness may be born.

At the end of this passage we also hear of the women who were accompanying Jesus and the twelve. These were broken individuals who had been healed, restored, and forgiven by the Christ – each decided to accompany the Master and provide from their resources. In walking the journey of faith with Jesus, the disciples walk down paths that lead to transformation. The men and women disciples are changed by their encounter with Christ that choose to leave their old way of life behind and embrace a new way that will lead them to heaven.

The gospel, and indeed all the readings from today's liturgy, speaks to us of God's deliverance through His tender mercy. In the second Book of Samuel we hear of the forgiveness offered to David. In the letter of Paul to the Galatians we are told that we are justified by our faith in Christ Jesus. Paul reminds us that through this belief that his, and our, lives can be transformed to the point that we realize that Christ Jesus lives in us. None of us may be defined by our mistakes or sin, but by the presence and light of Christ that has been offered to us. The same forgiveness offered to king David and the "nameless" woman of Luke's gospel is, likewise, offered to us by the same tender Christ that dwells with the Church. The gift of forgiveness comes through the knowledge that Christ Jesus, and his message, are a part of our faith and our lives. Once we center our decision-making upon this knowledge that lies deep within, it is then that we may offer forgiveness to those people or situations that have hurt us. As Catholic Christians, our motivations

Reflection Questions

1. Why did the woman in the gospel seek Jesus?
2. What is she restored to?
3. What is Jesus teaching the religious leaders in this gospel passage?
4. Who do you identify with in today's gospel?
5. Do you find it hard to ask for forgiveness? Why or why not?
6. Do you find it hard to forgive others? Why or why not?
7. Name the time(s) that you have been forgiven? How did you feel during those moments of reconciliation?
8. How does this inspire you to forgive and reconcile the broken realities of your life?
9. In what ways do you "anoint the feet of Christ" with your life?
10. Do you think Christ dwells within you?
11. How can the Christ that dwells within you transform your life and the life of others?

should not create shackles to imprison people in their sin, but to create an environment in which the sinner can truly be transformed.

When we examine the character of the woman in today's gospel, we encounter someone who had the courage to risk rejection in order to be forgiven. The gestures she offers to Christ and the witness she gives to us, show how she recognized within Christ a dwelling place of love and forgiveness. Each one of us are sinners – we make mistakes. There are things in everyone's past that one would rather forget about. Maybe there are things that we deeply regret and would probably say if there was a chance to change it we would. However, it is the past that leads us to the present moment. If we have done anything to harm or hurt another it is in the sacrament of the present moment in which we can seek reconciliation with one another and with Christ. Like the woman in the gospel, we also have an opportunity to see the dwelling place of God's mercy and forgiveness in the Sacrament of Reconciliation. She presented herself to Christ and yearned to be loved and accepted by him. Once we have the courage to go to confession and name that which separates us from God and one another, Christ Jesus will likewise offer us the same mercy and love.

Reflecting on the Sunday Readings with Fr. John J. Ludden, Pastor

Prayer

Dear Lord, help us to recognize the things that keep us from your love and the love of others. Help us to move beyond our sin and to embrace your light and presence within. We recognize that you live within each one of us. May we have the courage to forgive others and transform our pain into gratitude of your love and mercy. Amen.

Voices of Faith

A Sacred Anointing

A woman bruised by life's journey
Enters the abode of a zealous host
Hoping to catch glimpse of her Christ
And to be touched by His presence

With an alabaster jar of oil she approaches
The Anointed One of God
With tears running down her face
Her past haunts her as she meets her Christ

Stooping in humility she embraces Jesus
Her tears bathe the feet of God
As her contrite heart is exposed to Him and the world
Yearning for forgiveness

Her hair becomes the towel
To wipe dry the feet of One who walks the path of forgiveness
Her tender kiss shows her sorrow
And her sacred anointing recognizes the gift of the Anointed

The zealous host and guests sees not the promise of this hour
From narrow windows they look upon this vulnerable soul
Defined by her sin she is accepted not
By the religious ones who offer no love

Jesus, the Christ, sees this promised hour
In which loves gives birth to forgiveness
And forgiveness gives birth to love
The wisdom given by the Savior sent from above

Faith saves the woman who offers Christ love
With her sins forgiven she is allowed to stand tall
Her dignity returns as the walls tumble and fall

For now she stands with God with no obstacles at all

And so God reminds us all
"To the one to whom little is forgiven, loves little"
Something that makes our faith shallow and brittle
So let us make love our aim and with forgiveness go forth

We journey on together with Christ within
To bring forth his peace
A sacred anointing is offered to us to bring His transformation
Where the broken, the fragile and the vulnerable are waiting for love

Priests and Knights Say Thank You to the Altar Servers

Over twenty five altar servers and their parents attended an award ceremony at the St. John Parish Life Center on Thursday evening, June 6 to recognize the youngsters for their service to our priests.

Following grace before a catered meal by Frisco's, Fr. John said, "I will be taking you all to Busch Gardens in the coming season." Lots of applause followed his gracious remark. The awards, with the server's name and years of service, were provided by the St. John the Evangelist Knights of Columbus and were given to each server by Fr. John and Grand Knight Paul Barrus.

Parent Sally Lappin said, "I am very proud of him," speaking about her son Nolan, 10, who has two years as an altar server. When asked how she felt being an altar server, Katherine Standish, 10, said, "It's lots of fun." Her mom, Michele added, "It makes my husband and I very proud to see her on the altar with our wonderful priests."
