Adult Faith Enrichment

Are You Looking to Get More Involved?

Adult Faith Enrichment is looking to grow!

If you are looking for an opportunity to get more involved in the parish, look no further! We are looking to grow our ministry and need your help! We provide & plan the adult education programming through such activities as retreats, small group meetings, lectures, seminars, social action and workshops. We plan bible studies, catechism studies and other programming and are hopeful to expand further. You do NOT need to be a theologian to join our ministry. You do NOT need to teach or be certified in anything to join our ministry.

If you simply want to get involved, make use of your talents and make new friends, please contact Stephanie Wardein, 239.289.5541 or Maggie Miller 239.687.0687. We would love to meet you!

Classes are offered once a month and baptisms are celebrated on the first and third Sundays of each month after the 1:00 p.m. Mass. Please call the parish office to register for a class. Upon completion of the class and fulfillment of the godparent requirements, parents may schedule a baptism date.

The Heart of Worship

Matt Redman

Verse 1) When the music fades, all is stripped away and I simply come; longing just to bring something that's of worth, that will bless your heart Pre-chorus) I'll bring you more than a song, for a song in itself is not what you have required. You search much deeper within, through the way things appear—you're looking into my heart...

Chorus) I'm coming back to the heart of worship, And it's all about you, all about you Jesus. I'm sorry Lord, for the thing I've made it, When it's all about you, all about you, Jesus.

Verse 2)

King of endless worth, no one could express How much you deserve; Though I'm weak and poor, all I have is yours, ev'ry single breath.

The Word & Life

The Parables of Mercy: Stories of God's Unfailing Love

The parables of the lost sheep, the lost coin, and the prodigal son are familiar to most if not all. I am sure if the priest or deacon were to forget the book of the gospels, he would have no problem proclaiming these texts by heart. The parables of mercy are very clear and point to the heart of God's initiative with the world. One word that is common to all three parables is the word "Lost". We are told about the lost sheep that wanders away and is found because the shepherd risks leaving the ninety-nine behind in the desert to find it. The woman in the gospel rejoices in the fact that she has found her lost coin (obviously of great value to her). In the story of the prodigal son, the younger brother refers to himself as being lost and then found.

Reflection Questions

1. In the parable of the lost sheep the shepherd leaves the ninety-nine sheep to find one lost sheep. What does this mean to you?
2. What does the parable of the lost coin represent for you?
3. How does the parable of the prodigal son relate to your experience?
4. Who can you relate to in the story: the father, the prodigal son, or the older brother? Can you relate to all three?
5. How do you view God's mercy?
6. Are you willing to step into the unknown and risk forgiving someone you have hurt?

So what does it mean to be lost? A simple look at the dictionary would define the word "lost" as: unable to be found; unable to find one's way; bewildered; not won; not utilized. We all know what loss is all about — it brings suffering, vulnerability, uncertainty, and doubt. Likewise, all these factors are present when someone is lost. There are times in our faith when we may feel lost — unable to find our way because we are uncertain or because we doubt. All of the parables remind us, no matter how we lose our way or how lost we are, God is always ready to take us back when we have a humble and contrite heart. Not only that, each parable rejoices in the fact that what was lost is now found. There is joy in God's heart every time someone makes a return to him and walks away from sin.

Through Sacred Scripture, we learn that God's ways are not our ways. God's forgiveness extends beyond the conditional ways in which we sometimes offer forgiveness. The Parable of the Prodigal Son demonstrates the complexity of forgiveness. The prodigal son comes to his senses and is truly contrite, asking his father to take him back. The Father in is ready to forgive and celebrate the son's return. The older brother, on the other hand, resents that his younger brother can find forgiveness. The father asks his older son to share in his compassion. How is this good news for us? It is good news because we are being invited to share in God's compassion. When we hold on to past hurts inflicted upon us because of another's sin, then all it does is hold on to us. Our human nature is weak and we are prone to fall from grace. When we fall, we hope that others and God will forgive us. When someone else falls, forgiveness becomes more difficult. Today's gospel reminds us that mercy and forgiveness are two of the foundations of the Christian way.

Reflecting on the Sunday Readings with Fr. John J. Ludden, Pastor

Prayer

God of mercy and compassion, show us the way and teach us your paths. In You we find forgiveness. Help us to mirror in our lives the forgiveness that you brought forth in our Lord Jesus Christ. Lift the burden of our sin and shine your light on us when we find ourselves lost without you. Amen.

Voices of Faith

Once Lost Now Found

Beauty is born in divine imagination
Souls are created as conception takes place
Out of all the possibilities God creates every human face
Uniquely created we are born to be free

Our freedom is a gift in which we can stand tall
It is also a curse in which we can fall
Free to choose the good and bad alike
We may glorify God or from him take flight

Forever blest we will always be
For God's mercy seeks not to lose us but set us free
No matter what sin, no matter the strife
The Lord wants to love us and to offer new life

The lost, the forsaken, the sinner, the thief
The fertile ground of mercy where all sin will cease
For God's arms are open for sinners who return
To love them like no other as they learn

The shepherd that seeks the lost sheep
To pastures he may cover much ground
But once he finds the lost sheep joy resounds
For now he celebrates the sheep once lost now found

The woman who loses her coin – its value she does see Her time she now takes as treasure she does seek
And once she finds her treasure her joy and peace
astounds
As she invites her friends and family to celebrate from something once lost now found

A young son is tempted with vices all around
He squanders his inheritance with passions ill found His senses he does come to – to home's return he makes his journey's end
His father filled with mercy with celebration does tend

His son's return a victory – his family now complete
His older son now angry with mercy does compete
But his father shows his mercy with all his love around
For it is with joy he celebrates his son once lost now found

For man is lost without mercy
Without it joy cannot be found
But with mercy – his joy, his peace, his hope
The gift of redemption received for one once lost now found

THE HOME CHURCH

It's human nature to focus on the negative. Whether it's the pounds we want to lose, the new gizmo we want to buy, or the jackpot we'd like to win, this focus can make us think too much about what we wish we had and too little about what we do have.

When my youngest misplaced a favorite gadget, she could talk about nothing else. "Did you look all around your bedroom?" I asked. "It's pretty big, you know. Did you look behind your TV?" Even absurdly I suggested, "Maybe it's underneath your laptop." I'm not sure if the change in focus made her feel any better, but she did stop complaining.

It's good to know that heaven has the same anxiety about the lost, though, because we're never among the 99 sheep doing just what they're supposed to do. We're always wandering off, in need of a Good Shepherd to bring us home and rejoice over our safety. In today's Gospel story, Jesus assures us that he'll always come looking.

Bringing Home the Word, Sept. 15 2013, Franciscan Media

Follow Francis

Francis had the perfect antidote to obsessing over something lost. He disavowed all possessions. If you don't possess anything, you can't lose it. If you have possessions, then you need to fight to protect them.

The "Legend of the Three Companions," an early life of St. Francis, has this to say: The brothers often asked the advice of the Bishop, who received Francis with kindness, but said: "It seems to me that it is very hard and difficult to possess nothing in the world." To this blessed Francis replied: "My Lord, if we had any possessions we should also be forced to have arms to protect them, since possessions are a cause of disputes and strife, and in many ways we should be hindered from loving God and our neighbor. Therefore in this life we wish to have no temporal possessions."

Over the centuries the Franciscan commitment to live without possessions has been one of the most challenging aspects of following Francis's way of life. We are more likely to admire it than to emulate it, and to find ways to work around a literal acceptance of it.

Take some time this week to reflect on your possessions and how you might simplify your attachment to them.

Bringing Home the Word, Sept 15, 2013, Franciscan Media

And now am found
Was blind but now

What is Eucharistic Benediction?

Eucharistic benediction or Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament is a liturgical service during which the Blessed Sacrament is exposed in a receptacle, such as a monstrance, on the altar. It is a practice that fosters a deeper spiritual communion with our Lord. Eucharistic Benediction reminds us of the mystery of the Eucharist – that Jesus is truly present, body and blood, soul and divinity, in the Blessed Sacrament. It offers us an opportunity to "keep watch with me" (Matthew 26:38).
